SEALINK ANNOUNCES BARRIER BREAKAWAY FARES

SeaLink has announced special Great Barrier Island fares for the post-Easter period. The new fares are $75 per person (a saving of up to $45) and $280 for a car (saving $70) and will be valid for travel between 7th April and 31st May.

“The weather can be very mild through these months, making it the perfect time to be heading off for an island escape” says general manager Donna Gauci. “There are plenty of activities to keep people occupied and the laid-back lifestyle also lends itself to being a great place to relax and unwind.”

“The Barrier” as it is fondly referred to, has over 100kms of DoC walking tracks with the opportunity for half day walks and 2-3 night tramps. There are also hot springs and some of the most pristine bush in New Zealand – making an ideal backdrop for more energetic pursuits such as kayaking, mountain biking, surfing and fishing. Glenfern Sanctuary at Port Fitzroy makes for a great day trip and there is a links golf course, a number of small museums and a community art gallery all of which make for interesting diversions.

SeaLink works closely with accommodation providers on the island. Their friendly sales centre team offer a booking service for a range of properties. Package options start from as little as $286 per person, including return ferry for two people in their car and two nights’ accommodation.
